UNIVERSITY

FALL 2024 COMMENCEMENT

Dr. Dwaun J. Warmack, President

Their Rightful Place

Clafin University was founded in 1869 by Methodist missionaries to prepare freed slaves to take their rightful places as full American citizens. The University takes its name from two Methodist churchmen, Massachusetts Governor William Claflin and his father, Boston philanthropist Lee Claflin, who provided a large part of the funds to purchase the campus.

Dr. Alonzo Webster, a minister and educator from Vermont and a member of Claflin's Board of Trustees, secured Claflin's charter in 1869. The charter forbids discrimination of any sort among faculty, staff and students, making Claflin the first South Carolina University open to all students regardless of race, class or gender. Claflin opened its doors with Dr. Webster as its first president.

He came to South Carolina to teach at the Baker Biblical Institute in Charleston an institution established by the S.C. Mission Conference of 1866 of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the education of African American ministers. In 1870, the Baker Biblical Institute merged with Claflin University. An act by the South Carolina General Assembly on March 12, 1872, designated the South Carolina State Agricultural and Mechanical Institute as a part of Claflin University. Assembly passed an act of separation which severed the State Agricultural and Mechanical Institute from Claflin University and established a separate institution which eventually became South Carolina State University.

Academic Regalia

Inspired by Monks

The history of academic dress goes back to the Fourteenth Century European universities such as Oxford and Paris which grew out of church schools. In the medieval time, both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy and wore their caps, gowns and hoods—modeled after the garb of the monks—daily, not just on special occasions.

The gown worn today seems to have evolved from the habit of Benedictine monks. In the United States the gown is usually black, and its pattern varies according to the degree held.

The bachelor's gown has long pointed sleeves, and the master's gown has an oblong sleeve with the rear part square and front part in an arc. The doctor's gown in the Middle Ages was often furred, a feature that survives today in the ornamentation of velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars across the sleeve. The velvet is usually black, but may be a color designating the subject to which the degree pertains—scarlet, for example, for divinity. The head covering of academic regalia developed from the skull cap worn to protect the monks' tonsured heads in cold weather. In universities, the cap acquired a point on top which evolved into the tassel, and in the United States, the cap itself became the mortarboard. Originally the monk's hood was worn over the head in inclement weather or draped to the shoulders as a cowl.

At first both faculty and students wore it, but early in the Sixteenth Century it became restricted to graduates, and to this day, it remains a mark of a degree holder. Today each college or university has added a distinctively-colored hoodlining by which graduates may be recognized in academic processions. Symbolically, the width of the hood's velvet trimmings designates the level of the degree, its color heralding the major field of learning, and its lining identifying the institution that granted the degree.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

JOTAKA EADDY

Founder and CEO of Full Circle Strategies

Jotaka Eaddy is an award-winning strategist, advocate, host, and connector who Forbes Magazine describes as the “Olivia Pope of Silicon Valley.” Jotaka has more than 20 years of experience in policy, advocacy, and movement building. She is a highly sought-after speaker and strategist whose accomplishments include her trailblazing election as the University of South Carolina’s first Black Woman Student Body President and her groundbreaking work that led to the abolition of the juvenile death penalty in America though the 2005 landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision in Roper vs. Simmons. Her pivotal leadership as Senior Advisor to the NAACP led Initiatives to expand and defend voting rights through state legislative wins and executive orders, all before her bold and successful transition to the C-suite of Silicon Valley and the private sector.

As the Founder and CEO of Full Circle Strategies, LLC -, Jotaka leads a team of individuals committed to advancing transformative change and global impact for clients seeking to advance policy, ideas, and change. Her clients and work have included advising Oprah Winfrey: OWN Network's award-winning OWN Your Vote Campaign; advising and managing external strategies to engage diverse communities for global telecom firms; supporting the expansion of tech policy and platform changes aimed at increasing inclusive tech for some of the world's largest tech companies and venture firms. She advised the launch of Goldman Sachs' One Million Black Women Initiative which created a historic one billion dollar investment in Black women and leading the historic grassroots marketing campaign for the launch of "The Color Purple Musical Film" - which opened with the second highest Christmas Day release in history, among other projects.

In 2020, Jotaka founded the movement #WinWithBlackWomen, an intergenerational, intersectional group of Black women leaders representing business, sports, movement, politics, entertainment, and beyond who come together within their personal capacities to stand united in support of Black women. The network has garnered more than 1 billion organic impressions on social media. It is credited with making a significant impact on pivotal moments and issues, including supporting the election of the nation's first Black woman Vice President, supporting the confirmation of the nation's first Black woman U.S. Supreme Court Justice, and supporting the efforts for the safe return of Brittney Griner. She has advanced the power and image of Black women in film, television, movement, and culture.

She is a proud member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated.

Alma Mater

When the sun of Carolina
Mounts the eastern sky,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater,
On the hilltop high.

When the evening twilight deepens
And the shadows fall,
Linger long the golden sunbeams,
O'er the western wall.

When the Shades of night shall gather,
Dark the heart may be,
Still the rays of youth and love
Shall linger long o'er thee.

Chorus

Orange, Maroon, float for aye
Claflin fair o'er thee,
*May we all be leal and loyal
To thy memory

Words: Etta Butler Rowe (1896-1903) | Harmonized by Dr. Fredericka Young (1962) *Revised by Dr. Isaiah McGee, 2014 | *original text "May thy sons be leal and loyal"

Lift Every Voice & Sing

By James Weldon Johnson

Lift every voice and sing
Till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise
High as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us,
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past,
Till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who has brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who has by Thy might Led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee,
Lest, our hearts drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee;
Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand.
True to our God,
True to our native land.
